Yes, baseball is getting to be some sport at that.

Will the Eastern league umpires form a Frat and make their demands apon President Dan O'Neil?

But it is one sport that doesn't come ander the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., even though many of the players work like amateurs.

Now that the Eastern league ball players are to get their union cards, there will probably be trouble brewing for the club owners. The players may feemand 90 cents an hour and two tours' work to constitute a game.

The Interstate Trapshooting association has announced the following places and dates for the various sectional and national handicap tournament, San Jose, Cal., May 28-30; Eastern tournament, Hartford, Conn., June 20-22; Western tournament, St. Joseph, Me., July 17-19; Grand American tournament, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 20-24. More of the case amounted to 425,000 shares.

Foreign exchange markets were very duil until the final hour, when rates on the Teutonic centers shaded after previous strength. The recent improvement in marks and kronen was attributed to German selling of American securities, but this theory found little support in banking circles. Rubles and lines weer slightly better on a moderate demand.

The Bank of England's gain during the last week of about $2,500,000 gold the cessation of exports of the metal to this country. The statement also this country work to constitute a game.

Except for the irregular tendencies, industrial issues tending lower while railroads were higher, the bond market was without marked feature. Total sales (par value) aggregated $3,-36; 000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

PRESENT RULES SATISFACTORY

Little Need of Change in Baseball-Increase in Batting Means More Time—Average Game Lasts About Two Hours.

age fan.

As a matter of fact the base ball public is getting educated to the idea that a game in which there is a whole lot of hitting and run making is a loosely played ainir. It is of course true that to the dyed-in-the-wool rooter any game that the home team wins is a good one, regardless of the score or the manner of making it. But if the home club has to lose, it gets less panning when doing it by a count of 1 to 0 or 2 to 1 than by 9 to 8 or something of that sort.

Means More Time.

An increase in batting means an increase in the time consumed in playing a game, which is no inconsiderable item. The average man does not feel that he can spend more than two hours at the ball park on a week day. If he is detained any longer than that, he is apt to get home late for the big meal and if the games start earlier than 3 or 3.15, the fans will not want to tear themselves away from their offices or other places of employment to see them opened.

At that it might be an excellent idea to start at 2.30 on Saturdays, for almost every one who goes to the game on this week-end date is through for the day by 2 o'clock at the latest. About 3 o'clock is as early as it is well to begin the Sunday battles, for a large number of families have their principal Sabbath gorge in the middle of the day and do not finish stowing away the fodder until 2 or 2.30 o'clock. Means More Time.

Average is Two Hours. Under existing conditions the average game of ball takes about two hours. There is no reason why it should consume all this time, but the fact remains that it does. Even the fact remains that it does. Even the proposed plan to call only one foul strike instead of two would result in a marked increase in the duration of the battles, probably adding 15 minutes on the average.

Detroit fans certainly have no compleints to make about the dearth of plaints to make about the dearth batting. The Tigers are the hardest hitting club in the league and the big-gest runmakers. They cannot do enough work with the ash entirely to offset their pitchers' weaknesses, how-ever, and consequently they have not won a pennant since 1969. There does not seem to be any idea in Detroit that Jennings shiuld endeavor to sign up some more sluggers so that he could grab victories by main strength. On the contrary, the public is clamoring for him to get an effective hurling corps that will cut down the enemy's bombardment. The Red Sox, who don't hit at all and let the other fallers do some less with the fail are fellow do even less with the fiail, are not being deserted by their friends because of their lack of power.

MASS, STATE TEAM ELECTS GOLF CAPTAIN Rodney W. Brown of Brookline Chosen the Leader.

Just why there should be a loud, instent call for some changes in the base ball rules that would result in more batting and run making is hard to understand.

The official records show that 4,596 tallies were achieved in the American league in 1916, or an average of 3.71 per team per game. This means an average of over seven round trips per game for two teams and a contest that results in a score of 4 to 3 or 5 to 2 has enough action in it for the average of fan.
